Information Received

This privacy policy governs our collection, processing, and use of your Personal Information that you provide to us when you access or use the website <https://apix.trade> (hereinafter referred to as the "Website") and any products or services offered by us (hereinafter - "Services").

Account Information

To register a user account, we ask you to provide your login name, email address and create a password.

The types of Personal Information we collect and how we use them:

- Sharing your personal information;
- Your right to access, correct, update and delete your personal information;
- Security measures we use to protect and prevent the loss, misuse, or alteration of Personal Information;
- Our storage of your personal information;
- This Privacy Policy also covers some of the basics of using cookies.

We use/store your email address:

- To verify your identity when you log into your account;

- To contact you about your APIX account or operations (support emails), send emails with our newsletters, announcements, and other offers (marketing emails);
- To comply with our legal obligations.

We store passwords protected from unauthorized access using the password hashing function. We recommend that you create a strong password and do not share it with others for the security of your account and funds.

Personal information refers to personally identifiable information such as name, address, email address, financial information, and bank details. "Personal information" does not include anonymous and/or aggregated data that does not identify a specific user. We are committed to protecting and respecting your privacy.

We control how we collect your personal information and determine the purposes for which we use personal information. We are a “data controller” within the meaning of the General Data Protection Regulation (EU) 2016/679 (hereinafter “GDPR”) and other applicable European data protection laws.

To invite others to use APIX and access certain paid features and services, you can send them the unique referral code generated for your account on the APIX Affiliate Program page. We will process this unique code solely to provide you with the promised incentives for inviting others to use APIX.

You will also be able to create subaccounts or associate with other users in groups for collective use, decide on or manage your funds listed on APIX. Please note that we are not responsible for the actions or dissemination of your information by other users. We encourage you to carefully choose the partners you trust with your data.

APIX Usage Data

We collect information about your experience - your history of transactions, orders, transactions, device and browser information, login details, IP address, geolocation data, date, time, and duration of APIX use, links you have visited, the links you were directed to on APIX.

We use this information to:

- give you control over your active account session (provide information about logged-in devices, order history, etc.);
- analyze traffic statistics on the APIX platform.

In addition, APIX usage data is collected in an anonymous and aggregated manner to improve APIX usability and for marketing purposes.

Please note that certain information, such as transaction history, will be stored under legal obligations.

Communication with other users

You will be able to communicate with other users through private messages, public messages, and comments on the messages of other users.

Please note that messages can be accessed and distributed by addressed users at their own risk, so we recommend that you carefully study the information that you share with other users.

Contact us

If you need technical support, have a privacy question, or any other request, you can contact us and leave your message.

We will use this information to provide you with the assistance you may need and to improve our services and analyze their effectiveness.

Social

Media We have official APIX social media pages. When you interact with our social media pages, such as subscribing to pages, leaving comments or preferences (for example, “like” our posts), we may analyze this data to measure our effectiveness and analyze our social media marketing.

Cookie

A cookie is a small text file that is downloaded to your “end equipment” (such as a computer or smartphone) when you access APIX. This allows APIX to recognize your device and store some information about your preferences or past activities.

Disclosure and Transfer of Personal Information

We may disclose your Personal Information to third parties, as well as legal and regulatory authorities, and transfer your Personal Information as described below:

A. Disclosure of Information to Third Parties

When processing your transactions, we may transfer some of your Personal Information to our third-party provider's services that assist in our business operations. Your information will not be sold, exchanged, or transferred to third parties without your consent, except in the case of the provision of the Services or according to the requirements of the law. By using the Website or Services, you consent to the disclosure of your Personal Information as described in this Privacy Policy. Non-personally identifiable information about visitors may be provided to third parties for marketing, advertising, or other purposes. Our third-party service providers are contracted to protect and use such information only for the purposes for which it was disclosed unless required or permitted by law. We guarantee that such third parties will be bound by terms that are no less protective against those described in this Privacy Policy or those that we are subject to under applicable data protection laws.

B. Disclosures to Law Enforcement Agencies

We may share your Personal Information with law enforcement, data protection authorities, government officials, and other authorities when:

- It is caused by a subpoena, court order, or other legal process;
- We believe that disclosure is necessary to prevent physical harm or financial loss;
- Disclosure is required to report suspected illegal activity;

- Required to detect, investigate and prevent fraudulent transactions or unauthorized or illegal activities;
- Disclosures are necessary to investigate violations of this Privacy Policy or any of our agreements with you.

C. International Transfers of Personal Information

We store and process your Personal Information in data centers around the world, wherever our facilities or service providers are located. Thus, we may transfer your Personal Information between such data centers. Such transfers are made by our legal and regulatory obligations and are made only through secure channels.

D. Other Circumstances of Disclosing Personal Information

We may also disclose your Personal Information in the following cases:

- With your consent or at your direction. Certain information that you may share may be publicly available, such as your username and any content you post when you use interactive areas of our Website, such as our online forums;
- With our current or future parent companies, affiliates, subsidiaries, and other companies under common control or ownership with us or our offices internationally. We guarantee that these parties will be bound by terms that are no less protective against those described in this Privacy Policy or those that we are subject to applicable data protection laws;
- If the sharing of Personal Information is necessary to protect our rights and property or the rights and property of the Above current or future parent companies, affiliates, subsidiaries, and other companies under common control or ownership with us or our offices;
- Detect, investigate and prevent fraudulent transactions or unauthorized or illegal activities;
- Disclosures are necessary to investigate violations of this Privacy Policy or any of our agreements with you.

Legal Basis for Processing Information

Providing Our Services

We process your account information, information about your funds, your bets and behavior, as well as your communication data, usage data, and certain types of cookies to provide you with APIX Services. These services include providing a platform for storing funds, sharing and managing, trading analytics, placing necessary cookies and social media functions for collaborating with other users. Without this information, we will not be able to provide you with the exchange and other features of APIX.

Your Consent

If we do not obtain appropriate consent from you, we will not do the following:

- Send emails with our newsletters, announcements, and other offers (marketing emails) to you;
- Make your information publicly available;
- Collect cookies for personalization and analytics.

You can revoke your consent at any time. This can usually be done on the settings page or by contacting us by email. Revocation will not affect the legality of the processing based on previous consent. You can also unsubscribe from email by clicking the appropriate one in our emails to you.

Legitimate interests

For marketing purposes, we process your activity statistics on our APIX, your APIX usage data. This data helps us understand our target groups and conduct market research.

We process data on the use of the APIX platform to prevent suspicious, fraudulent, and other illegal activities. We may also from time to time send you emails with APIX updates or new products/services, as well as other emails for informational purposes.

You can also unsubscribe by email by clicking the corresponding button in our letters to you.

Compliance with Legal Regulations

As discussed above, we are required to store certain types of information by the law. We will make sure that this information is processed strictly by the relevant laws and we will not use this information for other purposes.

Age Range

We do not intend to collect or process personal data from children (under 18 years of age). Only individuals over the age of 18 can use our APIX and provide information to us.

If we become aware that someone under the age of 18 has provided or attempted to provide us with his / her personal information and registered account, we will make every effort to remove the information from our files permanently and delete that account.

Your rights

To control our data protection activities, you may exercise certain rights about your information processed by us. In particular, you have the right: To

- object to the processing of your information. If we process your information for our legitimate interests, such as for direct marketing emails or our marketing research purposes, you may object to this. We will consider your request and, if there is no legal basis to refuse it (for example, in the public interest), stop processing for such purposes;
- Access to your information. You have the right to:
 - find out if we are processing your information;
 - obtain disclosure of information about certain aspects of the processing;
 - get a copy of the processed information.
- Check your information and ask for correction, if you find that we are processing inaccurate (for example, errors in citizenship, date of birth) or outdated (for example, information about debts, economic activities), you can check its accuracy and/or request it update or fix;

- Limit the processing of your information. When you dispute the accuracy of your information, believe that we are processing it unlawfully, or wish to object to the processing, you have the right to suspend the processing of your information temporarily to verify that the processing was consistent. In this case, we will not process the information for any purpose other than storing it or to comply with the law until the circumstances of the restriction disappear;
- Ask us to delete/destroy / otherwise remove information about you. Unless we are required to retain data for legal purposes, we will delete your information after you make a request. Please note that the deletion of your information may affect your work with us, as well as lead to the termination of the relationship between you and us if the information was strictly necessary to provide APIX services;
- Ask us to transfer your information to another organization.

You can fill out a request to exercise your right by contacting us at support@apix.trade.

If you believe that our use of personal information violates your rights, you can file a complaint with your national data protection authority.

Security of information

Your personal information is stored and processed on the servers of a cloud provider within the European Union. These servers have technical means for the safe and secure storage of data from unauthorized access.

To continue processing, we may transfer information outside the European Economic Area, for example, for maintenance or software development purposes. In this case, we will ensure that we process the information by EU regulations.

We take necessary and sufficient measures, including hashing and encryption of certain information, to protect your information from unauthorized or accidental access, destruction, modification, blocking, copying, distribution, as well as from other illegal actions of third parties.

Immediate access to some data is only permitted to our authorized personnel in the maintenance of APIX. Such employees respect strict confidentiality and prevent unauthorized third parties from accessing personal information.

Changes to Notice

We may update this privacy notice from time to time by posting a new version on our platform. We advise you to check this page from time to time to ensure that you are satisfied with any changes. However, we will try to inform you of any significant changes.

Third-Party Services

Our APIX may contain links to third-party services. While we select our partners carefully and diligently, we cannot be held responsible for the content, terms, or privacy policies of third-party services.

We recommend that you stay informed when you leave APIX and read the privacy statements of the services that collect personal information. Third-party websites may contain their cookies. We are not responsible for their use of cookies.
